

Environmental Policy

LANDROC is committed to the welfare of the environment in which it operates (being urban, rural and remote). LANDROC undertakes a range of work procedures, the locations of which are sometimes in sensitive environments. The nature of the company's activities may lead to disturbance of both physical and human environments, within and outside the project site.

It is the policy of LANDROC to control these effects and to ensure that the requirements of the project's specifications and applicable legislation are met as a minimum.

It is a requirement of the company that environmental objectives shall be set for all projects. These objectives shall be reviewed regularly to address the environmental requirements and concerns of our clients and the community, as improved levels of performance are achieved, goals are set for further improvement.

The Company shall reduce, reuse and recycle materials to minimise the need for treatment or disposal and conserve resources used by the Company.

This policy is an integral part of our total management plan and serves to demonstrate to our clients and the public our commitment to achieving our objectives and to remind us of our responsibility to the environment. This can only be achieved through the consultation and cooperation of us all.
